

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At this most memorable juncture in my life, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the almighty kind God for his grace, strength, inspiration, abilities and enough resources to complete this gigantic work without which my long nurtured dream would not have turned out to be a heartening reality.

I am highly indebted to my honourable guide Prof. Sneha M. Joshi for her excellent academic guidance, motivation, patient dealing with me, sharing academic inputs in a democratic spirit and last but not the least her motherly affection. Her contribution to my work is immeasurable and seems difficult to be expressed in a few words. I am also immensely touched by the benevolence of her family members.

I would also thank my parents for their constant help and assistance which enabled me to pursue my study without any trouble.

I extend word of thanks to the teachers, non-teaching staff and students of Baroda Medical College, Baroda for their co-operation which lead me to complete this work.

I would like to thank CASE librarian Mrs. S.S. Padhye who helped me in locating the necessary academic material at different stages of my work.

My sincere thanks to the people at MIDEA POINT - Mr. Manjit Banga and his assistants for their meticulous typing work and friendly suggestions regarding technicalities of work to give it a final touch.

I also thank all those colleagues from my faculty who put forward their helping hands during this research Voyage. I thank one & all.
