

Acknowledgement

I take this opportunity to thank each one who has been a part of my journey of Ph. D. and its successful completion.

First and foremost, I am highly grateful to my guide Prof. R. G. Kothari, Former Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara for his never ending trust in me. My words fall short to describe how obliged I am to be his student. His constant support, motivation and patience made this tough journey of Ph. D. joyful and effortless. I feel proud to say that he never stopped believing in me. He gave me all the freedom to think and act as a researcher. He was always with me during ebbs and tides of my life as a friend, as a father and as a mentor. I thank him from the bottom of my heart for everything he did for me.

I extend my gratitude to Prof. R. C. Patel, Head and Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara for providing necessary facilities in the department to conduct my research work smoothly.

I thank Prof. S. C. Panigrahi, Former Head, Department of Education (CASE), Faculty of Education and Psychology, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara for his constant support and encouragement throughout my study.

An honourable mention goes to Dr. Prerana Shelat and Dr. A. V. Jayalakshmi for always showing their readiness to discuss anything and everything related to my research work that too intensely and extensively.

My words fall short to thank Ms. Shefali Dhimmar who always helped me with her expertise of statistical techniques and analysis software.

This journey of Ph. D. would have never been possible without Dr. Brijesh Darji who seeded the thought of pursuing Ph. D. in my mind.

It is rightly said that “Behind every successful woman, there is a father who believes in his daughter”. I express my deepest gratitude to my father Mr. D. C. Prajapati who always motivated me and supported me in all my decisions. I thank my mother Mrs. Parvatiben Prajapati. Her open mindedness, practical outlook, creative thinking and problem solving abilities made me become an independent thinker. I thank my sister Alka for always standing by my side. I thank my brother Vijay and my Bhabhi Ranjan for their unconditional love and care. Last but not the least, I am thankful to my nephews Luv, Soham and Rudra who always cheered me up and helped me in sorting the tools during data collection; and little bundle of joy Sweta, my niece.

I extend my gratitude towards University Grants Commission for funding my research study.

I sincerely thank The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara for providing library facilities, health related facilities and essential resources during my doctoral study.

I am extremely thankful to the Staff members of Department of Education office, Faculty of Education and Psychology office, University head office, Computer center, Hansa Mehta library, CASE library and University health center for always being available to help me in the best possible way.

I cannot find words to thank Ms. Charvi Mehta who carried out the most difficult task of data entry and data organization with a great a precision.

I am particularly indebted to all the experts who spent their valuable time for validation of my research tools.

My heartfelt thanks to all the research scholars of the department who were always available for discussion, suggestions and feedback.

With immense pleasure I would like to share the credit of my research work with Principles, teachers and class IX students of Kachchh district for granting permission and cooperating to conduct my research work in their schools.

Above all, I express my deepest gratitude to the Almighty for giving me this beautiful life. I thank Thee for always lightening my path and taking care of me.

Nisha Prajapati

Researcher