

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is very tough to sum up almost four years of Ph. D. work, interacting, learning and enjoying life with various people in just several words. Certainly, I had to overcome lot of challenges especially which arise under the circumstances when a person restarts the journey of learning after a gap of almost two decades. I firstly acknowledge that it was an immense pleasure to learn from my Guide Dr. P. C. Mankodi. I thank all my teachers and co-students at Department of Zoology Faculty of Science, The Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara for all their support. I am also thankful to Dr. Rajiv Kumar Gupta, IAS, Additional Chief Secretary, Forest and Environment Department, Government of Gujarat & Chairman, Gujarat Pollution Control Board and also the Forests and Environment Department, Gujarat State for granting permission to carry out the field work. I also thank Shri Hardik Shah, IAS & the then Member Secretary, GPCB and Shri K. C. Mistry, Member Secretary & DCES, Gujarat Pollution Control Board for encouraging me and for extending support in terms of laboratory facilities and assistance. I am also thankful to Dr. Sanjiv Tyagi, IFS & the then Director, GEMI and his team for rendering laboratory facilities. I extend my sincere thanks to all those who provided information, data and guidance to me during the study. I am delighted to say that during the course of this study, I got opportunity to participate in two of the international workshops and learn about wetlands; at a same time also got opportunity to disseminate the subject knowhow by being nominated as external guide to two of the M.E. (Environment Management) students from the L. D. Engineering College, Ahemadabad, by delivering lectures and practical field demonstration at Thol wetland to IFS officers, research scholars and students on topics encompassing the concept of 'Biomonitoring' and water quality evaluation. I am fortunate to have my wife - Vijaya, who always extended support in whatever possible manner she could and even tolerated my off moods during the study. I thank all my colleagues and friends at GPCB who helped me in one or the other manner during the study. I also express gratitude to my bike GJ18CC 8606 which accompanied me in the exhaustive field works with all heavy sampling loads on and never letdown me even on thorny and slippery trails of Thol.
