

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost, with great reverence and humility, I profusely thank the ALMIGHTY for everything, even if He writes providence exactly the opposite of what is wished for and yet makes life worth living!

My sincere obeisance to HIM for giving me my prized possessions : My ever-enduring lifeline - My Mom, my prop up system who's with me thru' all my smiles and pains ; My dearest Dad who put up with all my idiosyncrasies and very patiently waited for his destination Home and My greatest critic and sharpshooter, the one and only adorable Brother of mine.

Words fail to show gratitude to my guide, Geeta Mam', who proposed this research topic for me and made my very prolonged stay at Baroda really astute, worthwhile and enterprising.

I am deeply indebted to Prof.P.M.Ambadkar (Retd.), my grand guide, who meticulously went through the manuscript and made some very imperative changes.

I express my gratefulness to the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR), New Delhi for funding the research project 'A study of reproductive success in agriculturally useful and harmful birds' under which this work was carried out.

I heartily thank all my Teachers of the graduate and post-graduate grades for enhancing my interest in Zoology :

Prof. Bonny Pilo, Ex-Head, Department of Zoology and Former Dean, Faculty of Science, Co-ordinator DSA COSIST programme, an ever-ready helping hand and organization of his own for providing necessary facilities.

Prof. A.V. Ramachandran, Head, Department of Zoology, the scholastic teacher cum preacher who gave humongous zeal and ardor to this phase of my academic tenure.

I have a word of gratitude to Dr. B.M.Parasharya for lending me beautiful pictures of my model bird species.

As Albert Einstein puts it, "The cosmic religious experience is the strongest and the noblest force behind scientific research". With profound diligence I thank GOD for bestowing his eternal and divine presence through the mystical powers of this universe in the form of Reiki and Gurujī.

My heartfelt gratitude to Him for giving me all my Relatives, Friends and Well-wishers without whom living a lifetime would be incomplete!

This goes true for Anubha & Premal and their precious Pearl; Satpal & Rajesh and their little Ria; My Jat; Ashutosh; Uma; Jyothi & Milesh and their Anushka; Mounali 'Dainty'; Grandma; Dadaji and late Dadi. Sonali my ever-ready blunt suthradhar that I'm really fortunate to own and her Kiran who is the world to her and thanks to her computer that this ode is being typed; Neelima, a thorough doer has been a terrific person to be with and Gaurangbhai and Utsav the feathers in her cap have to be duly mentioned; Ranjit who's not just my bird-friend but also a dear, valuable all time Dost; My dearest Bhawna Pachori nee Gautam who was a whiff of good times; Bhavna, my colleague and crony whose bits of scribbles and concern is actually anticipated; Arpita & Surajit the ever threateners; Manju, the friend in need and deed; Shilpa & Sameer, the most adorable couple who are a pleasure to be with; Suresh Sir, an impending hand around the corner; Kauresh Sir for teaching me the mechanics of Cryocut E without which this work of mine would be undone ; DC for addicting me to the internet ; Aditi, Archana, Durgesh, Nikhil and Jenny for being silent company during late hours in the department and also as admirable miscellany of good things in life; Joe for the scroll mouse; Biren for the final setting and formatting of my thesis; I also thank Dr. Ami P Raval who assisted us in the formative years of the ICAR project.

Thanks are due to the non-teaching staff for attending to the chores of our research lab as and when required ; Pandyabhai, for giving tips on photography; Amit for excellent scanning job.

My acknowledgements will be incomplete if I don't mention the gazals of Jagjit Singh, which have been the ultimate companion of mine. And the quiet picturesque Jambhughoda Wildlife Sanctuary that provided the best-secluded recluse with Geetika, Zala and Dharmendra.

I owe a special thanks to the Supreme Lord for giving me an entity of mishmash, .....
