The authorities of the M.S. University of Baroda were kind enough to depute the investigator for higher studies to West Germany for a period of more than two years. The authorities of Goethe University, Frankfurt and the colleagues in Erziehungswissenschaftliches Seminar in Frankfurt/M were kind enough to provide him all facilities to undertake the study and research of this subject. His guide at Germany Prof. Dr. Karl Abraham, Head of the Department of Economics, Goethe University provided him useful guidance and suggestions in studying the subject. His present guide Prof. D.M. Desai, Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology, Baroda gave him useful guidance and invaluable help at every stage of the study till its completion. His former guide Prof. M.S. Patel, the former Dean of the Faculty of Education and Psychology, Baroda inspired and encouraged him to undertake the study. Besides, the investigator had the good fortune to visit many Vocational Schools and Institutions in West Germany and in India when the heads thereof during such personal interviews extended their co-operation and provided interesting data and information. His friends and colleagues in Frankfurt and Baroda also gave him unstinted co-operation and help in studying the subject. He also had the privilege to interview some educationalists and industrialists in Germany and India who also gave useful information. And above all, for a critical study of the subject the investigator has made use of the works of many authors, editors, publishers and of various reports. To all of them the investigator owes a deep debt of gratitude and takes this opportunity to express his heart-felt thanks and gratitude.
