

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I stand no where without the unconditional love and infinite blessings Almighty has always shower upon me. I offer my humble gratitude to Him for His eternal presence, showing me a right path in all the unfavourable circumstances and providing me strength to conquer them and to accomplish my research work.

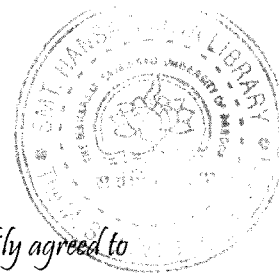

Life has blessed me with an opportunity to receive a positive direction from my mentor and guide Dr. Mini Sheth. I evince my intense gratefulness to her for her constant motivation to force me to remain focused on achieving my goal. Her quick observation, socratic questioning, keen interest, profound knowledge of the subject and creative thinking helped me to establish the overall alignment of the research and to move forward with investigating depth. Not only as a guide but also as a wonderful human in person she has always motivated me with immeasurable positive thinking, immense understanding and tender affection. I would like to thank her for inspiring, enriching and enlightening my mind and soul.

I convey special acknowledgement to Prof. (Dr.) Uma Iyer for the trust she has on me which I felt constantly. Her brilliant ideas, unceasing scientific quest and balanced personality never cease to amaze me. I also thank her for providing me all the necessary facilities to carry out my research work.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to all the teaching and non-teaching staff of the Dept. of Foods and Nutrition for their gentle and supporting behavior, not just through the study period but from the very first day I stepped into the department.

I am awfully indebted to Dr. Kiran Shinglot (Health Clinic, The M.S. University of Baroda) for his advice, supervision, philanthropic support and an important contribution by allowing me to enroll his patients in the study. His spiritual guidance is also indispensable to sustain me to complete this thesis.

I extend my thanks to all the enthusiastic staff of the health clinic who created a welcoming, friendly and joyful environment throughout the period of data collection.

This research benefitted particularly from the diabetic subjects of health clinic who readily agreed to participate in the study. I am heartily thankful to all of them. I would also like to take the privilege to thank all the panelist members for their willingness to evaluate the FOS incorporated food products.

Furthermore, I offer my special thanks to Mr. Hiren Bhatt (Chowksi labs. Pvt. Ltd.) for permitting me to carry out the research analysis in their laboratory. I also appreciate the efforts by Charul and Kamlesh bhai for helping in analyzing the samples.

I would like to acknowledge the financial support from the University Grant Commission (UGC) in the form of junior and senior research fellowship for entire duration of the study.

I convey special acknowledgement to my friend Dr. Swati Parnami for her loyal assistance, consistent support and caring gesture, enabled me to bypass the persistent obstacles to thesis completion.

An earnest and warm thanks are extended to my best friends, Neha Gupta, for her generous friendship and genuine partnership, Pooja Gaur, for sharing her knowledge, understanding and suggestions regarding the research concepts and for her undoubted sisterly love, Dolly, Venus, Navneet, Neha Pandit, Surabhi Parikh and Rajani Goklani for their ensuring motivation.

At my daily work place, I am blessed with a friendly and cheerful group of fellow students. I owe my thanks to- Ruchi Vaidya, Ashima Gupta, Shriya Seksaria, Sujoya Sukul, Tanushree Singh, Nidhi Jain, Aparna Asudani, Ritu Rana, Arti Akolkar, Rujuta Desai, Aditika, Neha Gohil and Nithya Nayat, who helped me throughout my research journey.

I greatly appreciate the companionship of my friend Ekta Khurana, who was with me abide, at the completion days of thesis writing.

I am forever grateful to my family who provided a carefree environment and stood beside me like a strong pillar.

It was my parents dream and encouragement which inspired me to pursue the doctoral work. I thank them from the core of my heart for their selfless love, abiding belief and unstinted support. I am fortunate for having my brother Atul for his unreserved warmth and affection.

I feel at a loss of words when it comes to thanking my in-laws, who are more like parents to me. I greatly appreciate their patience and moral support.

A special mention of thanks to my grandparents, particularly to my 'Nanima', who is my guardian angel and without her perpetual blessings, celestial love and spiritual bond, I would have not be standing where I am.

This note of thanks would be incomplete without the mention of an incredible human being and my beloved husband and better half, Sanjeev. He was a driving force and a source of encouragement throughout this study period. I thank him for his unbelievable calmness, kind understanding, pure love and limitless belief in me.

Lastly, I would like to thank everybody who in-front and off-front of the screen of my life, helped me to complete my doctoral work.

-Aakanksha Mahendra