

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

As I approach the completion of my target, I cannot help getting away from the growing conviction that, but for the support and assistance of some individuals, my task might have been an elusive one. Taking a quick look behind, I realize how Prof.Amita Verma's constant disagreement at the planning stage helped me shape my ideas with perspicuity. I owe her a debt of gratitude for her valuable contribution and for making the resources available, which helped in the accomplishment of this task.

I fully comprehend and acknowledge Dr. T.S. Saraswathi's terse and constructive criticism and feedback during various stages of my study. Her personal enthusiastic interest in my work ever buoyed me keeping enlivened my endeavours. I express my deep gratitude for her contribution which has been crucial for the completion of this work.

I expatiate my sincere gratitude to my guide Dr.Veena Mistry for the real and meaningful guidance she was always pleased to impart during the various stages of the study. Her openness to ideas helped in arriving at some conclusions at the end of brain storming discussions. Her contribution in terms of guidance, support and assistance has been tremendous. It is difficult to adequately express my gratitude for her.

I fully appreciate Dr. Baljit Kaur's feedback and suggestions on the preliminary drafts of the chapters. She has always been a constant support and I always looked forward to her advice, help and insightful suggestions.

A special mention needs to be made of the B.Sc. students from the department of HDFS, M.S. University, Baroda, who assisted in collecting qualitative data on schools. I express my gratefulness to them.

I extend my gratitude to Ms. Hansa Dhar for her actual assistance in collection of some data and in preparing the figures for the manuscript. I could count on her any time.

I fully acknowledge the willing co-operation and participation of all the respondents involved in the study.

The investigator is thankful to National Institute of Public Co-operation and Child Development (NIPCCD), New Delhi, as the study has been an outcome of a larger project on Monitoring and Evaluation of Social Components of ICDS, initiated by NIPCCD.

It has been my privilege to get an opportunity to discuss my work with Dr. U.N. Dash (Utkal University, Bhubaneswar). His arguments were always thought-provoking, for which I am very grateful to him.

I also greatly benefited from the feedback provided by Dr. Rumi Mistry. He always indicated his interest in my work. I owe him my immense gratitude.

My friends, Umakant and Kalindi need a special mention and I am very grateful to them for their invisible but a kind of support one is always looking for.

I am highly grateful to Mr. N.NandaKumar and Mr. Davis for their painstaking typing of the thesis. They have been very accommodative to my specific requirements.

Lastly, I thank my parents. The least I could say about them is that they have always been very supportive.
