

Acknowledgement

As I retrospect about the journey which I started nearly four years back, I get nostalgic about all that I experienced during this journey. Although the nostalgia is not related only to the four years during which I did my research work, it extends to the unrelenting support and guidance given to me by so many people. I take this opportunity to acknowledge and thank them all

I offer my prayers to the almighty for having given this opportunity to learn, unlearn and re-learn so many things during this journey. I can only feel how I was guided and blessed at so many turns by the almighty. Indeed with every experience, I am coming nearer to the almighty. I again salute the creator and the karta of this world for his kripa on me.

The blessings of almighty came my way through my Guru and my guide, who on every step helped me keep my ekagrata and stick to the mulyas. Dr. M D Vyas, has not only been a teacher to me, but has been a guru, a philosopher and a conscience keeper I take this opportunity to thank him for his guidance and for all the help that he offered during my association with him.

I thank Professor Anil Navale, Dean and Head, Faculty of Social Work for facilitating my research work and for creating forums and opportunities for getting very important expert opinions and suggestions for my research work. I also thank other faculty colleagues and teachers who have provided their support and guidance, whenever I asked for it.

I want to thank all the participating organisations for giving me the permission to collect sample for my research study. I am highly indebted to the individual respondents who agreed to respond to the questionnaire. I thank all the Managers, friends in the participating organisations who took personal interest in collecting the data, providing required information as the additional inputs

I am thankful to Sr. Professor A K Nigam, Railway Staff College, Baroda for extending help in collecting literature and providing useful insights on the subject.

Putta-Matta Ki Asees is a frequently sung Sabad in the Sikh religion for blessing the childrens. All along my life and especially during those times when the blessings are needed more, my parents have not only blessed me, but have taken pains to bring smiles and happiness in my life Their perseverance, their values, their resolve and their patience has kept guiding me in all the circumstances. I owe my existence and growth to them and pray to almighty for their good health and long life.

My wife, Madhavi, has been by my side all along. She has been my alter ego and kept on silently doing all that she needed to do. She could understand me when I felt tense during some phases of research and chipped in with small and important piece of advise which worked wonders for me. She played a very vital role in helping me complete this task. I thank her for all she has done for me.

I also thank my brother and his wife for all the support that they gave to me, although being away from me. Because of their continous probing and follow-up, I have been able to complete this assignment.

I have been a few of those fortunate persons blessed with friends who have been with me since my childhood. All my friends, Sanjay-Sashi, Raghu-Priya, Subodh-Anju, Pinku-Meenu, Ashish-Madhu, Amit-Ritu, Amarjeet and their family members have been very kind to extend their intellectual and emotional support to me during whole of this effort.
