

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The present study is important having its two main contributions, firstly it is based on creation of an Interest Measure and secondly it is standardised on a large scale in context with the contemporary needs. The work of such kind has involved cooperation, assistance, and stimulation from many sources. Acknowledgements therefore, are extensive and deserved for many of my colleagues.

Any systematic investigation presupposes a careful and sympathetic guidance. I had a special privilege to work under the guidance of DR. (MS.) S.L. PATEL, Reader, Department of Education, Faculty of Education & Psychology. My special gratitude are expressed for careful and critical reading of the manuscripts, in its several drafts and its final form. Her critique has helped to eliminate many of my mere obscure passages and to bring a clarity to the presentation that was much needed for improving the quality of the study.

I am deeply grateful to DR. N.S. PATHAK, Dean, Faculty of Education & Psychology of this University who has acted as a constant consultant of the present study for his statistical guidance and help, who gave freely of his time and technical skill for analysing the local data that are presented in the chapter.

I express my appreciation and thanks to all the heads as well as staff members of all the selected faculties for their valuable help who have facilitated my study and who served as judges for validating the items on inventory.

I am sincerely thankful to the principals of selected Higher Secondary Schools of Gujarat who have permitted me to collect data during Pilot Study as well the final administration during the investigation.

Thanks are further expressed to all the sampled 825 twelfth grade higher secondary students of Gujarat and 415 graduate students of all the ten faculties of 1989-90 who served as my subjects of the investigation for recording their responses to the best of their ability with a Cooperative attitude.

I am thankful to MS. SAROJ PADHYE, Librarian, Centre of Advanced Study in Education, of this University who had been most helpful in directing my attention to reference materials and research reports bearing significant information.

The investigator is most appreciative also of a grant-in-aid from the research funds of U.G.C. at New Delhi and I.C.S.S.R Centre of Social Studies at Surat which made possible this exhaustive work of investigation. My gratitude for this assistance is most sincere.

My words fall short for expressing my gratitude to my husband, family members and all the friends for their constant encouragement and help in various ways.

Immense thanks are due to Mr. D.K. Shah and Ms. Pooja Gangaramani for getting the thesis neatly typed and for making it presentable.

I am thankful to our God Almighty by whose grace, this study has been completed.

MRS. ASHA AJIT DAS