

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I cannot bring myself to believe that this all-too brief note of thanks reflects my deep sense of gratitude in full measure, to those who are instrumental for the successful conduct and completion of my doctoral thesis. There are several persons helping in different ways without which it would not have been possible to complete it.

I am immensely grateful to my Guide and Supervisor Prof. Dr. S. N. Parikh, Ex-Dean, Faculty of Law, M.S. University of Baroda, Vadodara, who inspired and guided me into refreshingly new realms of research entitled “Critical Evaluation of Some Aspects of Working of Parliamentary Form of Government and Federal System in India.”

Coming as he does from an illustrious line of legal academicians, Prof. Dr.S.N. Parikh was a Professor of law par excellence and had impressive innings in the noble calling of teaching and research. His scholarship is not cribbed and cooped to ivory towers of traditional curriculum. It has amazing breadth and sweep in terms of intellectual eminence. I am fortunate to be his student through out my career as a student of law in LL.M. Part I, II and Ph.D. Degree courses. Working with him has been both a privilege and pleasure. His rare combination of reason seasoned by experience and clarity of thought greatly helped me. I am beholden to him for his inspiring guidance, for his patience and pains he took to go through the draft, pointing out mistakes and making valuable suggestions and comments. As a committed research supervisor, he put his shoulder to the wheel. It was quite expedient that I had to place very heavy indent on his precious time and often trespassing his busy schedule, yet he has been condescendingly kind enough to guide my research work and concluded the stupendous task on time.

I thank Dr. Syed Maswood, I/C Head, Department of Law and I/C Dean, Faculty of Law, M.S. University of Baroda, who is instrumental for the successful conduct and completion of doctoral thesis through his constant encouragement in facilitating me in terms of time.

I am equally grateful to my husband Mr. Narendra Kumar and my sweet son Sidharth Kumar whose sincere interest and continuous enquiry regarding the progress of the study has been a constant source of inspiration in my research pursuit. My Brother-in-law Surendra, co-sister Meeta and my mother-in Law have been a helping hand and guiding spirit at home.

I owe a great debt of gratitude to Mr. Hanumanth Roy, Principle of University Law College, Bangalore and Mr. V.B. Coutino, (earlier Principle of University Law College, Bangalore), now Vice-Chancellor of Gulberga University and Mr. Srinivas, Prof. of Law at National Law School at Bangalore for providing me Library facilities at their institutions and promoted my academic interest with profound love.

My thanks are due to Mr. Shiva Subramanian, my office Senior who gave me generous support by granting me long leave for completing this task, and to my office colleagues V. Shanta and Mr. Jagannath for their valuable help.

I thank staff of Faculty of Law, M.S. University of Baroda, Vadodara who helped me in the process of office transactions right from registration to submission of this thesis. And I also want to thank library staff of Hansa Mehta Library, M.S. University for their extended cooperation. A lot of thanks to the staff of Cann Digital Print, Vadodara who gave final shape and Design to the work.
