

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

When one has set sights on achieving a target in life, it is a matter of deep satisfaction when the target has attained. In a flash of personal ego, one often loses sight of the truth that such success could never have been won without the wholehearted co-operation and assistance rendered by several wonderful people.

At the outset, I would like to state without reservation that I could never have reached where I have without the encouragement and assistance that I received, at all times from my revered guide Dr. N. Pradhan.

Prof. Sneha Joshi kindled the idea of research in this area. My sincere gratitude to her for initiating me into such an exciting undiscovered area of research.

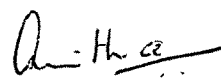

I would be failing in my duty if I did not record my grateful appreciation to the co-operation offered by all the experts who took very keen interest in my endeavour. A very special word of thanks and gratitude to the Principals and the teachers of all the schools who participated whole-heartedly in this research work.

My words of appreciation and gratitude go out to Prof. R.G. Kothari, Dean and all the lecturers of Faculty of Education and Psychology, The M.S. University of Baroda, Vadodara for all the support he has rendered throughout the period of research.

Equally with the people from academics, it is the home front that has a major role to play. Thank you Gayatri, Geetika and Dinesh for being with me, supporting and inspiring me in all ways possible.

I owe my sincere thanks to the librarians and staff of CASE and Hansa Mehta Library, M.S. University, Baroda.

My thanks to Mr Dinesh of M/S Ravechi and M/S Vibrations for giving good shape to the thesis.
