

Acknowledgments

Let my hand folded thanks and prayers reach Almighty God, for all His showers of blessings and invisible graces bestowed on me during my research work. I firmly believe that this present venture would not have been carried out to a successful completion, if it would have been not His Plan.

I would like to acknowledge all the people who have helped me in so many ways to complete this task. First let me put in record, my profound sense of gratitude to my Guide and Supervisor, Dr. R. G. Kothari, vice chancellor of Veer Narmad South Gujarat University, Surat, former Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology and former Head, CASE, Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, for his most able guidance, academic and administrative support, clear direction and suggestion, encouragement and also for his appreciation for my progress in the work, during the conduct of this study. My gratitude also extends to Dr. S. Kumar, present Dean of Faculty of Education and Psychology and Head of CASE, M.S.University, Baroda, for his joyful and generous offer of his administrative help.

I first came across the Enneagram model through Fr. P.T.Joseph s.j .professor and coordinator, Information systems, Organizational behaviour, General Management Area at XLRI, Jamshedpur. It was a casual conversation that stirred my interest and framed the investigations that finally became this Thesis. Over the course of these years it has been a pleasant experience to receive his encouragement, information and reference materials, I needed for the study. I am grateful to him for all his support.

I offer my grateful thanks to Dr. V.D. Thomas, Dr. Dipti Oza, Dr. Joseph and other faculty members for their valuable insights and knowledgable contribution in my work.

I would like to acknowledge the cooperation of the principals of Bethsada B.Ed. College Ranchi and Ursuline Women's teachers' training College, Lohardaga and the contribution of the student-teachers in this study. I thank them all for their precious time given to me, their active participation in the intervention programme, genuine life sharing and experiences and for their reflections which stimulated my thinking continuously. I am much indebted to them.

Friendship needs no lavish praises but cherishes deep sense of gratitude in hearts. I am heartily indebted to my friends, who were my constant strength and accorded me with all possible help, provided incomparable eleventh hour assistance and were good emotional and moral support and a source of inspiration to me. These are my friends who want to remain behind the scene. May God bless them abundantly.

I thankfully recognize the efforts put by the CRS staff, Isaac Parampill, Benita Massey, Naveen and Augustine for the neat typing, printing and formatting the thesis in its present shape.

I am thankful to Maharaja Sayajirao University, Baroda, for selecting and providing me the Research Scholarship and other facilities needed for my study. Also I thank the entire community at the faculty of Education and Psychology for the homely and friendly atmosphere they provided during my association with them. I express my thanks to the librarians, CASE library and H.M. library, for all their help.

Let me not prove myself ungrateful by not thanking all my near and dear ones, my mother , brother and sisters and all relatives, my Ursuline sisters and my well wishers, who directly or indirectly participated ,helped and facilitated in the completion of my research endeavour.

To all of these people I say THANK-YOU.
