

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I must begin my acknowledgements with a genuine sense of indebtedness to Dr B. K. Passi, Professor and Principal, College of Education, University of Indore, for his invaluable guidance without which this work would not have become a reality. He was a constant source of inspiration and directed my ways through the maze of intricacies of this study.

I wish to express my deep gratitude to Prof. M. B. Buch, for his crucial suggestions were of immense value to this study.

I also owe my wholehearted thanks to Dr D. N. Sansanwal, Lecturer, College of Education, University of Indore, for his ceaseless assistance throughout this study.

I am genuinely thankful to various colleges of education in Gujarat for providing without hesitation basic data for the purposes of this study.

It is certainly not out of place to acknowledge here the shoulder-to-shoulder support of my husband, Dr V. N. Dholakia, who joined in every stage of this work as well as the encouragement provided by my parents-in-law and parents without which this effort would not have fructified.

Lastly, my sincere thanks are due to Mr N. Balakrishnan who spared no pains in typing out the thesis with great care.

JAGRUTI V. DHOLAKIA
