

Acknowledgement

I express my deep sense of gratitude to my guide Dr. Sarita Agrawal for her constant support and guidance. She has always inspired me to learn new things and keep pace with time. She has not just guided me for my thesis but has given me lessons for my life. Instead of showing the path, she has taught me to first determine the goal of life and then make one's own path. I am indebted to her.

My thanks are also due to Prof. A. R. Hingorani, officiating Dean, Faculty of Commerce and Prof. D. V. Baloni, officiating Head, Department of Business Economics for their support. I am also thankful to all members of the staff in the Department of Business Economics who have also taught me during my post graduation for their support. A word of appreciation and thanks for all the administrative staff in the Faculty of Commerce.

My deepest gratitude goes to my family for their unflagging love and support throughout my life; this thesis would have been simply impossible without their love. I am indebted to my father, Prabhudas Lukka for his care and love. I cannot forget all the love and support I received from my sister, Krupa and brother, Vasant. They have all supported me constantly.

I am thankful to all the fisheries experts especially to Dr. Ritesh Borichangar, for their detailed and valuable comments and for their important support throughout this work. Their advice, friendly help and extensive discussions around my work and interesting explorations in operations have been very helpful for this study.

I am extremely thankful to Prof. Kiran Pandya, Dr. Guarang Rami, Dr. Smruti Bulsari and Dr. Prasant Joshi, Veer Narmad South Gujarat University, Surat and Dr. Akash Acharya, Centre for Social studies, Surat for their technical guidance and useful suggestions for my thesis. They have always been extremely supportive at every step.

I am extremely thankful to my brother -in-law , Mr. Deepak Tanna for all his support during my field work. He made my task of field work very easy.

I am thankful to all the respondents in the fish processing industry in Gujarat who spared their valuable time out of their busy schedule even during their peak season. Without them this thesis would not have seen light of the day. My special thanks to Mr. Thomas Kenny, then President of Seafood Exporters Association of India, Gujarat region.

I would be failing in my duty without expressing my thanks to, Shree Virbaimaa Trust, Vadodara, Kanubhai from Sweden, Chetanbhai from U.K. and Porbandar Lohana Boarding for financially supporting me.

I feel proud of my friend, Heena, for her support. She had been a role model for me to follow unconsciously during the period of study and has always been one of my counsellors. We have been witness to each other's days of struggle while both of us were working together for our thesis.

Furthermore, I am grateful to my long time friends Nilesh Barot, Dipak singh for their support.

I cannot forget Niraj Pau, who inspired me for Ph.D. during my school days.

Last but not least, thanks to God for my life that passed all tests of life. Oh God! You have made my life more bountiful. May your name be exalted, honoured, and glorified.

In preparing this thesis, I was in contact with many people, researchers, academicians, and practitioners. They have contributed towards my understanding and thoughts. Thanks to them all Finally, I would like to thank everybody who has contributed to the successful realization of my thesis, as well as expressing my apology that I could not mention each name personally.
