

INDEX

|           |                                                                                |    |
|-----------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| ❖         | Abstract                                                                | IX |
| ❖         | Acknowledgement                                                         | X  |
| 1. | Introduction                                                            | 1  |
| 1.1       | Renewable Energy Sources                                                       | 2  |
| 1.1.1     | Wind Energy                                                                    | 3  |
| 1.1.2     | Water Power                                                                    | 3  |
| 1.1.3     | Geothermal Energy                                                              | 4  |
| 1.1.4     | Biomass                                                                        | 5  |
| 1.1.5     | Solar Energy                                                                   | 6  |
| 1.1.5.1   | Solar Heating                                                                  | 7  |
| 1.1.5.2   | Photovoltaic-State of Art                                                      | 8  |
| 1.2       | Thin Film Photovoltaic Technology                                              | 10 |
| 1.2.1     | Amorphous Silicon (a-Si)                                                       | 10 |
| 1.2.2     | Cadmium Telluride (CdTe)                                                       | 11 |
| 1.2.3     | Copper Indium Diselenide (CIS)                                                 | 12 |
| 1.3       | Present Status of Thin Film Photovoltaic                                       | 13 |
| 1.4       | Trends in CIS-based Devices                                                    | 15 |
| 1.5       | Structure of CIS Solar Cell                                                    | 15 |
| 1.5.1     | Glass Substrate                                                                | 16 |
| 1.5.2     | Molybdenum (Mo) Back Contact                                                   | 16 |
| 1.5.3     | Copper Indium Diselenide (CIS): Absorber Layer                                 | 17 |
| 1.5.4     | Cadmium Sulphide (CdS): Buffer Layer                                           | 17 |
| 1.5.5     | Intrinsic Zinc Oxide (i-ZnO) and Aluminum Doped Zinc Oxide (AZO): Window Layer | 18 |
| 1.5.6     | Aluminum (Al) Front Contact (Grid)                                             | 18 |
| 1.6       | Solar cell Device Operation                                                    | 19 |
| 1.7       | Loss Mechanism in CIS solar cell                                               | 20 |
| 1.8       | Motivation for this Work                                                       | 20 |
| 1.8.1     | RF Sputtering of Mo Back Contact                                               | 20 |
| 1.8.2     | Thermal and Flash Evaporation of CIS Absorber Layer                            | 21 |
| 1.8.3     | Thermal Evaporation of CdS Buffer Layer                                        | 22 |

|           |                                                                                                                       |           |
|-----------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 1.8.4     | ZnO Window Layer                                                                                                      | 22        |
| 1.9       | Thesis Organization                                                                                                   | 22        |
| 2. | Thin Film Deposition and Characterization Techniques                                                           | 25 |
| 2.1       | Thin Film Deposition Techniques                                                                                       | 25        |
| 2.1.1     | Thermal Evaporation Method                                                                                            | 25        |
| 2.1.2     | Flash Evaporation Method                                                                                              | 26        |
| 2.1.3     | Sputtering Technique                                                                                                  | 27        |
| 2.2       | Thin Film Characterization Techniques                                                                                 | 29        |
| 2.2.1     | X-Ray Diffraction (XRD)                                                                                               | 29        |
| 2.2.2     | Scanning Electron Microscopy (SEM)                                                                                    | 31        |
| 2.2.3     | Energy Dispersive Analysis of X-rays (EDAX)                                                                           | 31        |
| 2.2.4     | Transmission Electron Microscopy (TEM)                                                                                | 32        |
| 2.2.5     | Atomic Force Microscopy (AFM)                                                                                         | 33        |
| 2.2.6     | Optical Transmission Measurements                                                                                     | 36        |
| 2.2.7     | Electrical Measurements                                                                                               |           |
| 2.2.7.1   | Hot Probe Method                                                                                                      | 37        |
| 2.2.7.2   | Four-Point Probe Method                                                                                               | 38        |
| 2.2.7.3   | Hall Effect Measurements                                                                                              | 39        |
| ➤         | Conclusions                                                                                                           | 40        |
| 3. | Growth and Characterization of Copper Indium Diselenide (CIS) Compound and its Thin Films as an Absorber Layer | 41 |
| 3.1       | Synthesis of Copper Indium Diselenide Material                                                                        | 42        |
| 3.2       | Properties of Synthesized CuInSe <sub>x</sub> Powders                                                                 | 42        |
| 3.2.1     | Structural Properties                                                                                                 | 42        |
| 3.2.2     | Composition of CuInSe <sub>x</sub> powders                                                                            | 45        |
| 3.3       | Deposition of CIS Absorber Films                                                                                      | 48        |
| 3.4       | Characterization of CIS thin films Deposited using Thermal Evaporation Technique                                      | 48        |
| 3.4.1     | Structural Characterization of CIS Thin Films                                                                         | 48        |
| 3.4.1.1   | Effect of Substrate Temperature                                                                                       | 49        |
| 3.4.1.2   | Effect of Thermal Annealing                                                                                           | 50        |
| 3.4.1.3   | Crystallite Size                                                                                                      | 50        |

|           |                                                                                             |           |
|-----------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 3.4.1.4   | TEM Result                                                                                  | 51        |
| 3.4.2     | Morphological Studies                                                                       | 52        |
| 3.4.2.1   | AFM Results                                                                                 | 52        |
| 3.4.2.2   | SEM Result                                                                                  | 54        |
| 3.4.3     | Compositional Analysis of CIS Thin Films                                                    | 54        |
| 3.4.4     | Optical Transmission Measurements                                                           | 55        |
| 3.4.5     | Electrical Characterization                                                                 | 58        |
| 3.4.5.1   | Resistivity Measurements                                                                    | 58        |
| 3.4.5.2   | Activation Energy                                                                           | 60        |
| 3.5       | Deposition of CIS Thin Films using Flash Evaporation Technique                              | 62        |
| 3.5.1     | Structural Characterization                                                                 | 62        |
| 3.5.2     | Morphological Studies                                                                       | 63        |
| 3.5.2.1   | AFM Results                                                                                 | 63        |
| 3.5.2.2   | SEM Results                                                                                 | 64        |
| 3.5.3     | Compositional Characterization                                                              | 65        |
| 3.5.4     | Optical Transmission Measurements                                                           | 68        |
| 3.5.5     | Electrical Characterization                                                                 | 69        |
| 3.5.6     | Activation Energy                                                                           | 71        |
| ➤         | Conclusions                                                                                 | 72        |
| 4. | Growth and Characterization of Cadmium Sulphide (CdS) Thin Films as a Buffer Layer   | 74 |
| 4.1       | Utility of Buffer Layer in CIS Thin Films Solar Cell                                        | 74        |
| 4.2       | Criteria for Buffer Layer Selection                                                         | 75        |
| 4.3       | Buffer Materials used in CIS based Thin Film Solar Cell                                     | 77        |
| 4.3.1     | Cadmium Sulphide (CdS)                                                                      | 77        |
| 4.3.2     | Zinc Oxide (ZnO), Cadmium Partial Electrolyte (Cd-PE) and Zinc Partial Electrolyte (Zn –PE) | 77        |
| 4.3.3     | Zinc Oxy/Hydroxy Sulphide (ZnS(O,OH)) and Cadmium Zinc Sulphide (CdZnS)                     | 77        |
| 4.3.4     | Zinc Selenide (ZnSe) and Zinc Indium Selenide (ZnIn <sub>2</sub> Se <sub>4</sub> )          | 78        |
| 4.3.5     | Indium Sulphide (In <sub>2</sub> S <sub>3</sub> )                                           | 78        |
| 4.4       | Why CdS?                                                                                    | 79        |
| 4.5       | CdS Thin Film Deposition using Thermal Evaporation Technique                                | 79        |

|           |                                                                                                                            |           |
|-----------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 4.6       | Characterization of CdS Thin Film Deposited using Thermal Evaporation Technique                                            | 80        |
| 4.6.1     | Structural Characterization                                                                                                | 80        |
| 4.6.2     | Morphological Studies                                                                                                      | 83        |
| 4.6.3     | Compositional Characterization                                                                                             | 83        |
| 4.6.4     | Optical Characterization                                                                                                   | 86        |
| 4.6.5     | Electrical Characterization                                                                                                | 88        |
| ➤         | Conclusions                                                                                                                | 89        |
| 5. | Growth and Characterization of Intrinsic Zinc Oxide (i-ZnO) and Aluminum doped Zinc Oxide (AZO) – as a Window Layer | 90 |
| 5.1       | Transparent Conductive Oxide (TCO) in CIS Thin Film Solar Cells                                                            | 90        |
| 5.1.1     | Hetrojunction Formation                                                                                                    | 91        |
| 5.1.2     | Lateral Transport of Charge                                                                                                | 92        |
| 5.1.3     | Photon Transmission to the Absorber                                                                                        | 93        |
| 5.1.4     | Crystal Structure and Physical Properties of Zinc Oxide                                                                    | 95        |
| 5.2       | Method of Preparing i-ZnO Target                                                                                           | 95        |
| 5.2.1     | Sintering of i-ZnO Target                                                                                                  | 96        |
| 5.2.2     | Structural Characterization of i-ZnO Target                                                                                | 97        |
| 5.3       | RF Magnetron Sputtering of i-ZnO Thin Films                                                                                | 98        |
| 5.4       | Characterization of i-ZnO Thin Films                                                                                       | 99        |
| 5.4.1     | Structural Characterization                                                                                                | 99        |
| 5.4.2     | Morphological Characterization                                                                                             | 100       |
| 5.4.3     | Optical Characterization                                                                                                   | 101       |
| 5.5       | AZO Target Characterization                                                                                                | 102       |
| 5.5.1     | Structural Characterization                                                                                                | 102       |
| 5.6       | RF Magnetron Sputtering of AZO Thin Films                                                                                  | 102       |
| 5.6.1     | Study as a Function of Working Pressure                                                                                    | 105       |
| 5.6.1.1   | Structural Characterization                                                                                                | 105       |
| 5.6.1.2   | Morphological Characterization                                                                                             | 106       |
| 5.6.1.3   | Optical Characterization                                                                                                   | 107       |
| 5.6.1.4   | Electrical Characterization                                                                                                | 109       |
| ➤         | Conclusions                                                                                                                | 109       |

|           |                                                                                                              |            |
|-----------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 6. | Development and Fabrication of CIS Thin Film Solar Cells                                              | 110 |
| 6.1       | Simulation using Analysis for Microelectronic and Photonic Structures (AMPS-1D)                              | 111        |
| 6.1.1     | Basic Concepts                                                                                               | 111        |
| 6.1.2     | Device Properties and Description                                                                            | 112        |
| 6.1.2.1   | Front and Back Contacts                                                                                      | 112        |
| 6.1.2.2   | Surface Recombination                                                                                        | 112        |
| 6.1.2.3   | Front and Back Surface Reflectivity                                                                          | 113        |
| 6.1.2.4   | Material Properties                                                                                          | 113        |
| 6.1.2.5   | Environmental Conditions                                                                                     | 113        |
| 6.1.2.6   | Modeling Setting                                                                                             | 114        |
| 6.2       | Analysis of Simulated Current-Voltage Measurement (I-V) Results for Various Thicknesses of CdS Buffer Layer  | 115        |
| 6.3       | CIS Thin Film Solar Cell Device Fabrication Process                                                          | 116        |
| 6.3.1     | Substrate Preparation and Molybdenum (Mo) Back Contact Deposition                                            | 116        |
| 6.3.2     | CIS, CdS and ZnO Thin Film Deposition                                                                        | 117        |
| 6.3.3     | Aluminum Grid Deposition                                                                                     | 118        |
| 6.4       | I-V Characterization of CIS Thin Film Solar Cell Device                                                      | 118        |
| 6.4.1     | Theory of I-V Analysis                                                                                       | 118        |
| 6.4.1.1   | Determination of Series Resistance ( $R_s$ )                                                                 | 120        |
| 6.4.1.2   | Determination of Ideality Factor and Reverse Saturation Current                                              | 121        |
| 6.5       | Quantum Efficiency Measurement                                                                               | 124        |
| 6.6       | Dark and Illuminated I-V Analysis of Fabricated CIS Devices                                                  | 126        |
| 6.6.1     | Results of CIS Solar Cell with CIS Thickness $0.5\mu\text{m}$                                                | 126        |
| 6.6.2     | Dark I-V Results of Mo/CIS/CdS Structure with CIS Thickness of $1\mu\text{m}$ and Different Thickness of CdS | 128        |
| ➤         | Conclusions                                                                                                  | 130        |
| ❖         | References                                                                                            | 131 |
| ❖         | Summary and Scope for Future Work                                                                     | 138 |
| ❖         | List of Thesis Related Publications                                                                   | 140 |