

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I owe a special debt of gratitude to Dr. R. V. Nene, Reader, Department of Zoology, who has not only been my teacher and Research Guide but also a friend, providing me with constant guidance, unceasing encouragement and tremendous help during the course of the present investigation.

I express my sincere appreciation to Prof. Bonny Pilo, Head, Department of Zoology, M. S. University of Baroda, for helpful suggestions and encouragement, and also for providing the necessary laboratory facilities during the tenure of work.

I would take this opportunity to thank all the teaching as well as the non-teaching staff, Department of Zoology, for their warm encouragement.

I am grateful to Prof. A. K. Susheela, A. I. I. M. S, New Delhi, for training me in electron microscopy.

Another word of special thanks must go to Dr. V. Sundararaman, I.T.R.C., Lucknow, without whom the work on electron microscope would not have been possible.

I would also like to acknowledge Dr. Mammen Daniel, Reader, Botany Department, M. S. University of Baroda, for his inspiration and valuable suggestions.

A special note of gratitude is extended to all my friends, Avnesh, Harsha, Isha, Rajesh and Suresh for their constant help and cooperation during the tenure of my work.

I am indebted to CSIR, New Delhi for providing me financial assistance in the form of JRF-SRF research fellowships.

I offer my thanks to my parents, brothers and sisters-in-law, for their love and unfailing source of inspiration and emotional support.

My overriding debt is to my husband, Joseph Mathew, who provided me with the time, support and inspiration needed for the completion of my work.
