

Acknowledgement

“When there is a will there is a way”, and my will of doing something different was shown its way by my guide Dr. Pragna Parikh. My heartfelt gratitude goes to her for her immense support, motherly care and trust on me to allow me doing a different and a challenging topic. It would have been impossible for me to work on this topic if she would not have supported me. She had made herself available even through her heavy teaching schedules, administrative responsibilities and social responsibilities. This work has been nurtured by her enormous concern, innovative thoughts and constructive attitude. From the day we started the work she has devoted her valuable time for this work and taught me, both consciously and un-consciously, how well investigational clinical research can be done. Her contributions and determination to make my Ph.D. experience prolific and thought-provoking can never be overlooked. The pleasure and passion she has for this research was contagious and motivational for me, even during tough times in the Ph.D. pursuit. I am grateful for the excellent illustration she has provided as an accomplished Zoologist having a diversified experience of Entomology, Physiology, Eco-toxicology and now a Clinical Environmentalist. She has been balancing my thesis work with her family on every Sunday since I joined. I would also like to thank her for giving me a wonderful family along with my study. This is an opportunity to thank Mr. Hitesh Parikh for his parental care and sparing his holidays for my thesis work. Yashesh Parikh has been equivalently helpful in making the Thesis possible by lightening the atmosphere when we were tensed.

I am grateful to my teachers in the Department Of Zoology, my special thanks to Dr. Dolly Kumar and Dr. S. B. Suresh for their support and encouragement.

I am thankful to Head, Department of Zoology for providing with facilities to carry out my research work.

This work would not have been possible without the help of several individuals who in one way or another have contributed their extended valuable assistance in the preparation and completion of this study. I would like to gratefully acknowledge Deepa Mam, Dr. Ayaz Rangrez, Bhavika Desai, Shalaka Sadekarpawar and Priyanka Mistri, for standing beside me in my good as well as hard times and making me feel the power of unity.

Deepa mam, had been contributing to this work simultaneously with her innovative and distinctive ways of writing the thesis. Her motivation that one should always follow what they love allowed me to pursue my work with different ideas. She has devoted her every free second from the busy schedule to give her valuable inputs. Also, I would like to thanks Dr. Ayaz Rangrez, who has always stood by me when needed. Bhavika, has been supporting me since the day she joined. It was her positive attitude, spontaneous will of learning new things and grabbing the opportunity which made the work exciting for us. She has been there day in and out to help me for handling this huge amount of data and its compilation. Shalaka, with her cool attitude and patience had been calming us in all our downfalls and then she use restart the work to give the ignition with some funny new way out. I would like to thank both of them for their inputs in making the data in the acceptable formats for the modeling studies. Priyanka has been standing there beside me since last four years in whatever I do. Her encouragement as a friend and sister has given me strength to achieve my dreams. I am thankful to her for helping me in compiling the data and formatting them to a readable format by the models and software's used in the project.

I would like to acknowledge Dr. Anand Patel (Chest Physician), Assistant Professor, Dept. Of Pulmonary Medicine, S.B.K.S. Medical Institute & Research Centre, Sumandeep Vidhyapeeth University, Piparia, Vadodara, for his valuable time and sharing his patients data during various camps and visits. My special thanks to GPCB (Gujarat Pollution Control Board) for giving the air quality data. I would extend my thankfull ness to Mr. Bhavesh Thakkar (Wockhard Pharmaceuticals) in understanding the Medicinal sale data.

Last but not the least I m immensely thankful to Mom and Dad for allowing and giving me the encouragement for my thesis inspite of many constraints throughout my work. I am also thankful to Bhaiya and my Bhabhi for support and encouragement.

This thesis would have been incomplete without the constant encouragement and support of Mr. Rajesh Chanana my Husband and Director of Envirocare Consultants (I) Pvt. Ltd. I m thankful to him for standing beside me all throughout the tenure of my Ph.D. and giving me whole heartedly his moral support. Lastly, I would like to dedicate this thesis to my Parents and my Husband for their immense support and encouragement.