

C O N T E N T S

	PAGE
PREFACE	ii
LIST OF TABLES	ix
CHAPTER I : INTRODUCTION	1-16
Importance of the Study	1
Objectives	2
Sources of Data	13
Plan of the Study	16
 CHAPTER II : PRICE AND QUANTITY TRENDS IN INDIAN IMPORTS	 17-62
Introduction	17
Needs for construction of Index numbers	18
Coverage of Commodities	20
Methodology of Construction of Index numbers	22
Adjustment for incomplete coverage	23
Quantum Index	28
Conversions	28
Effects of price and quantity on value of imports	29
Relative prices of Agricultural and Manufactured products	32
Relation of import prices to domestic prices	37
Appendix II.1: Import price Indices : 1950-51 to 1976-77, 1970-71=100)	44

Appendix II.2: Volume indices: 1950-51 to 1976-77, 1970-71=100)	50
Appendix II.3: Name of the Commodity according to article number.	56
CHAPTER III : STRUCTURE OF IMPORTS	63-147
Introduction	63
Magnitude of imports	64
Structural changes: Meanings and methods of measurement	66-147
Macro aspects of Structural Changes	66-123
Share of imports to NNP	76
Share of imports in world imports	94
Growth rate of imports	94
Instability in imports	115
Micro aspects of Structural changes	124-147
Commodity concentration index	124
Commodity composition of imports	127
Colonial imports before independence	145
CHAPTER IV : INDIA AND THE OIL CRISIS	148-168
Introduction	148
India's balance of trade	150
India's trade with OPEC countries	152
India's POL imports as a proportion of its total imports	153
Share of oil in total energy consumption in India	159
Beneficial effects of price hike	167
Policy measures	168
CHAPTER V : BILATERALISM AND INDIAN IMPORTS - I	169-348
I. Introduction	169

II. Reasons for India's entry into bilateral trade and payment agreements with different countries	171
III. Features of bilateralism	177
IV. Elements of a theory of bilateral trading.	211
V. Indian imports on bilateral basis.	218
VI. Benefits of competitive prices	221
VII. Net position obtained by Indian by importing on the commodity agreement basis.	248
VIII. Trend in the proportion of imports from the bilateral agreement country.	258
IX. An examination of countries under commodity agreements	278
X. Assessment of commodities and their prices under bilateral trade agreements.	293
Appendix V.I	300
Appendix V.II	316
Appendix V.III	329
CHAPTER VI : BILATERALISM AND INDIAN IMPORTS - II	349-500
Introduction	349
I. Trends in the relative unit import price realized from the countries having commodity agreement with India and rest of the countries	349
II. Stability of Import prices	364
III. Bilateralism and Indian exports	373
IV. Imports and commodity price equalisation	395

Appendix VI.I to VI.XII	423-500
CHAPTER VII : CONCLUSION	501-517
BIBLIOGRAPHY	518-536