

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

These investigations formed a part of the long range project supported by the University Grants Commission under their Special Assistance Programme. Studies on brain regions and kidney were carried out in Ralph Lowell Labs, Harvard Medical School, Boston, Mass. U.S.A. under the guidance of Prof. George Hauser. The author acknowledges her indebtedness to Prof. George Hauser for enabling her to work in his laboratory by offering a fellowship as also help in the presentation and interpretation of the data.

The author is also thankful to all her colleagues in the department for their help during the course of her research work.
