

P R E F A C E

The subject of the thesis was suggested to me by my supervisor Prof. I.S. Gulati. Indeed, I was fortunate in having Prof. I.S. Gulati as my guide. But for his able guidance and inspiration, I doubt, whether this work could have been completed and taken the present shape. I owe to him greatly.

My thanks are also due to Dr. V.N. Kothari, who has made his name in this field by his original contribution. He also worked as my supervisor for some time in the absence of Prof. I.S. Gulati. I have benefited immensely by his matured thinking on the subject.

I wish to express my thanks to all my colleagues, friends and well-wishers whose sympathy has positive influence on my work. Last but not the least, I am also thankful to Mr. C.N. Kachhia, the typist, for doing his job well.

BARODA

July 1968

K.R.Shah