

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This research study is the outcome of inspiration, encouragement, support and help that I have received from my seniors, colleagues, friends, family members, institutions and organisations.

I acknowledge my deep sense of gratitude towards the following personalities and organisations :

* Professor Ravindra H Dholakia, Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad, whose deep insight in the subject has initiated and inspired me for this research project. His generosity in the form of consistent encouragement has been instrumental in this venture of mine.

* Professor D.S. Pathak, Department of Business Economics, Faculty of Commerce, M.S. University of Baroda, Baroda, who has been my research supervisor, for his inspiration, encouragement and valuable guidance at each stage of this study.

* Professor N.K. Chaudhry, Department of Economics, University of Toronto, Toronto, Canada for his sincere involvement, his support in the task of collecting required reference material and data on Canadian aspects of this study.

* Mr. David Dallimore, Director General, Industry, Science and Technology, Canada and Mrs. Doberah Rolls, Regional Manager (Policy and Communication), Federal Business Development Bank, for their generous support in collecting information for the study.

* External Affairs, Canada, for granting me the award of Doctoral Fellowship 1991-92.

* Shastri Indo-Canadian Institute, New Delhi, for being instrumental in getting me the award of Doctoral Fellowship 1991-92.

* The Staff Members of the Robart Library, University of Toronto, Toronto, Canada and those of the York University Library, Downsview, Canada, for their cooperation and help in locating required reference material for the study and also for providing me requisite facilities to carry on the study smoothly during my stay in Canada.

* South Asian Studies Centre, University of Toronto, Toronto, Canada for providing me library and other facilities to conduct research on Canadian aspect of the present study during my stay in Canada.

I express my sincere thanks to Professor S. K. Singh, Head, Department of Business Economics, Faculty of Commerce, M. S. University of Baroda, Baroda; Professor B.S. Patel, Dean, Faculty of Commerce, M.S. University of Baroda, Baroda; Professor Om P Juneja, Director, Centre for Canadian Studies, M.S. University of Baroda, Baroda; Dr. P.R. Joshi and Dr. (Mrs.) Arti Nanavati, both of the Department of Economics, Faculty of Arts, M.S. University of Baroda, Baroda; Dr. S. Kumar, Dr. U. M. Nanavati, Shri P. H. Vyas, Shri J. P. Parikh, Dr. A. S. Rao, Shri Vinod Padaria, Shri B. C. Patel, Shri Piyush Patel and Shri Mayank Patel for their support and help.

This acknowledgement would not be sensible, if I fail to acknowledge my debt to Shri Nikitin R Contractor, Director, Business Data Processors Company, the staff of BDP Co. Hemlata Patel and Pratik Shah. Therefore, I express special thanks to all of them for helping me in the printing of this thesis.

I am indeed grateful to my parents, wife Minaxi, brothers - Ajay Joshi and Chetan Joshi - and my friends without whose cooperation this work would not have been possible.