

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost, with an obeisance I would like to express my deepest sense of gratitude to the Almighty God for His loving care and enlisting me to accomplish this venture.

I avail this opportunity to record my profound and sincere deep sense of gratitude to my guide, Dr. M. Sreedevi Xavier, for her ever inspiring and painstaking guidance, support, understanding, suggestions, criticisms, encouragement, academic discussion, utmost patience, strong commitment, which made me come out with a quality work. Without her keen interest and deep involvement, my thesis could not have been successfully completed. I am very grateful to her for patiently going through my drafts and helping me out in coming to the conclusions, without which I could not have completed my work. I thank her for all the affections, help, for believing in me, and for the support she has rendered on me.

I wish to express my sincere and profound sense of gratitude to the Head of Department, Department of Sociology, Prof. Dr. P.S. Choondawat, and to Prof. N. Rajaram, Dr. Ragini P. Shah and Mrs. Mandakini Jha, for the valuable cooepration.

I duly take this opportunity to thank and express my deep sense of gratitude to all those people without whose help and guidance my work would not have been materialized. My colleague Mr. Debranjana Hota who was always there with a smile to help me with the necessary books and articles which were of great help for my study. My seniors, Dr. Alok Kumar Singh and Dr. Victoria Chandam who were also always been ready to help, guide with words of inspiration are also remembered. How can I forget to mention my dear friend Kh. Durgeshawri, who has always been with me through thick and thin, the academic discussions we had, sharing the unforgettable moments of life, and helping me in checking the manuscript of the thesis. My roommates Somila Surabhi and Anubha Singh cannot be missed here for being so understanding and caring. My love and gratitude also goes to all my juniors- Krishna, Subhashini, Pampak, Nutan, Langlen, Nirjanta, Vashundhara, Sapna, and others who helped me in some way or the other.

My conscience does not permit me to fail to acknowledge the valuable suggestions given by my friend Mr. Prakash Parajuli, Mr. Paomilien of Motbung, Senapati district and also Mr. Zozom Gangte of Churachandpur district, for accompanying me during my fieldwork. I am highly indebted to all the respondents who readily spared their valuable time from their busy schedule for the interview.

I am grateful to all the libraries who generously extended their cooperation and made available to me a large number of books.

Among those who have had an important part in the making of this thesis is Sunil Gusain, who spurred me on when enthusiasm lagged. 'Thank You' would not suffice for whatever he has done for me. I am intensely thankful for his constant prayers and sacrificial help and for being a source of encouragement and moral support which helped me in reaching my goal.

I will be failing in my duty if I miss to acknowledge my dear parents. With all my affectionate regards, thank you dear Ba and Ema for showering your blessings and encouragement which had resulted in the successful completion of my work. My intimate love and affection is also due to my sisters and brothers-in-law, my brother, Niranjana Sharma, who has always been there whenever I needed him for any help, and my nieces and nephews, who have been a constant source of encouragement and entertainment. Their love and support have made me reach to the completion of this thesis.

I would like to convey my sincere thanks to the non-teaching staff of our Department-Mr. Rameshbhai Baria, who has always been there for me whenever I needed any help in the library and in the Department and Mr. Nileshbhai, and Ms. Indiraben Parmar for giving all the possible help.

Mary Bachaspatimayum