

Acknowledgement

This work is the outcome of inspiration, encouragement, support and assistance that I have received from various persons and institutions. Without their help it was not possible to complete this research work. I do not have words to express my deep gratitude coming from bottom of my heart to them.

First of all I express my thanks and gratitude to Almighty Allah who is benevolent and merciful in giving me inspiration and sustainable guidance and easing my difficulties and opening the doors of success to my research work. Thus my all praises and thanks to my Almighty Allah (J.S.).

I owe an unpayable debt to my research guide and mentor, Dr.Saiyedali Ahmedmiya Saiyed, Associate Professor, Department of Business Economics, I acknowledge my sincerest gratitude for his rare brilliance, gracious, benevolent nature & forbearance and not to forget his inspiration, encouragement, assistance, immense and invaluable constant guidance, candid comments and positive constructive criticism. On several occasions, I have been benefited by his deep understanding of the theoretical issues. Moreover during my long association with him I found him to be a good teacher, researcher and administrator as well as a good scholar. He has gone through several drafts of this thesis, pointed out logical weakness in it, posed thought provoking queries and provided constructive suggestions which have definitely improved my understanding of the subject, sharpened my writing skills and enabled me to present this thesis in its present form. I gratefully, acknowledge his constant advice, persistent guidance and significant discussion I had with him especially during the study session. I again thank him and his family from the bottom of my heart for enabling me to undertake this research work.

I am also thankful to Professor Parimal Vyas, Dean Faculty of Commerce, Professor D.V. Baloni, Officiating Head of The Department of Business Economics, Professor Samir Joshi, Dr. P.M. Shah, Mr. Yasin Vankar, of the Department of Business Economics for their symphathetic help in this research work.

I am also thankful to Prof. S.B. Vora, Ex-Vice Chancellor of Gujarat University for his constant help and encouragement in writing research papers and articles particularly in Artha Sankalan since long time.

I would like to express my deep and sincere gratitude Mrs. Dr.Archana Dholakia, Ex-Director School of Social Sciences, Gujarat University, Ahmedabad for her encouragement and personal guidance for this research work.

I wish to acknowledge my indebttness and sincere thanks to Prof. V.P.Bharadwaj, Prof. K.G. Shukla, Dr. D.V. Upadhyay, Dr. C.H. Thakar, Dr.Mustafa of Sudan, Dr. Abel of Kenya, Dr. Kartik Bhatt (Director of School of Social Sciences Guj. Uni. Ahmedabad). Their help and support have influenced my entire career in the field o Higher Education and this research work.

I wish to thank Professors, Staff and Librarians of Sardar Patel Institute of Economic and Social Research, Ahmedabad, for their encouragement and inspiration in the study of this thesis.

I am thankful to Dr. John Makana Gekonge of Gujarat University for his valuable suggestions and encouragement in improving my understanding of statistical methods and application of statistical techniques in my research.

I wish to acknowledge my indebtedness to the Chief Secretary of the General Administration Department of Planning Division Sachivalaya, Gandhinagar, for providing required information about Development Programmes in Gujarat State which I have already utilized in my thesis.

I am deeply obliged and thankful to the Staff and Librarians of Indian Institute of Management, Ahmadabad, India, for providing required information of this thesis study.

I am very much indebted to the professors of Indian Institute of Management, Ahmadabad, India, for their co-operation and constant encouragement.

I am very much thankful and obliged to the Hansa Mehta Library of The M.S. University of Baroda and its staff members for providing me required information, journals and books for this research work. I am also thankful to my faculty office staff members for their support in this work particularly Mr. Devale.

I also owe my gratitude to my beloved father, late Mr. Saiyed Mehamudmiya and my beloved mother Saiyeda Sugarabi whose principles of life have constantly enlightened my life. Their spiritual support has helped me in completing my studies and this research project. Moreover they had been constantly praying to Almighty Allah for my success in every walk of life. My Mother and Father were the first teachers who laid the foundation of what I am to be human and a radiance of love and understanding, who taught me the value of patience and hard work. They were an inexhaustible source of inspiration and courage. Having them in my mind propelled the successful completion of this thesis. I sincerely hope that this several years project, will make their souls happy, instill a sense of satisfaction and feel the sacrifice they made, has proved to be worthy.

I am deeply obliged and thankful to my relatives for their friendly encouragement and support.

I am deeply obliged and thankful to my family for their constant co-operation, strong support, inspiration and guidance that has made the study possible in a very in-depth and intricate dimension.

I am grateful to my brothers, Uncles, Aunties and cousins for their constant encouragement and inspiration.

I am obliged and thankful to my teaching Staff of Navjagruti Arts and Commerce College for Women, Khambhat (District Anand) for their constant love and encouragement.

I owe my loving thanks to My Wife Tahera Saiyed, My Son Mohammed Aaqib Saiyed and My Daughters Yasmin, Nilofer, Tabassum. They have helped and encouraged me to complete my research work.

My special gratitude is due to my brothers, my sisters and their family members for their loving support. My loving thanks to my Elder Brother Turabmiya Saiyed's Son Dr. Taslim Aarif Saiyed, Director, C-Camp, Bangalore, India.

Saiyed Shaukat Mehamudmiya
Khambhat,
Gujarat
India