

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

That man is great, and he alone
who serves a greatness not his own,
For neither praise nor pelf;
content to know and be unknown
Whole in himself.

- Owen Meredith, A Great Man -

At the outset, I am sincerely thankful for the invaluable guidance given by my guide Mr. K.M.Sharma, Dean, Faculty of Social Work. His constructive criticism has always been a source of inspiration in bringing out this research report successfully.

I am also indebted to Prof. (Miss) Indira Patel, Head of the Department and Dr. S.R. Yardi, the former Dean, for giving assistance, in all the phases of this report.

I also endow my special thanks to Dr. Harshad Rajyaguru, for patiently listening to me in all my discussions, and also giving encouragement in my present work.

At this juncture, I am also grateful to Mrs.Varsha Anjaria, Mr. Mafat Vyas and Mr. Indubhai Shelat, for their timely help.

I place it on record my sincere thanks and gratitudes to the Faculty Members, Mr. Anil Navale, Mr. S.
Saxena, Mrs. S. P. Moitra, Mrs. Thrity Vaswani, Mrs. Aruna Khasghiwalla and Mrs. Sandhya Joshi, for constantly helping me, directly and indirectly in my work.

The office staff and the library staff of the Faculty have been very helpful to me from time to time and I am grateful to them, for the same.

I am also indebted to Dr. R. V. Bhatt and the ICMR staff for their constant encouragement and co-operation.

Above all, my sincere thanks and graticudes to the Agency authorities and the respondents for sparing their valuable time, to help me out in collecting the data.

I am grateful to my family members and good friends,
who have shared the joys as well as the pains, alongwith me.

Last but not the least, my very special thanks to Mrs. Vasanthi Jayaram, for taking pains to carefully and neatly type out this thesis.

Baroda,
