

(i)

CONTENT

	PAGE NO
CHAPTER I	1
INTRODUCTION	1
Problem, Context and need of the present study	1
The Concept of Aggression	3
Definitions of aggressive behavior	4
Protest behavior	5
Delimitation of the terms used in the definitions	7
The degree of the legitimacy of aggressive behavior : A further delimitation	8
Frustration	10
Patterns of aggressive behavior	12
Patterns and determinants of aggressive behavior in animals	13
Patterns of aggressive behavior in humans	15
o Physical aggression	16
o The manipulation of others	16
o Verbal aggression	17
CHAPTER II	19
THE PROBLEM OF AGGRESSION IN RETROSPECT	19
o Instigation	20
o Inhibitions	21
o Situational Factors	21

(ii)

Review of the literature and theories on Frustration and Aggression	22
o Work of Sigmund Freud	23
o Lorenz and other Ethologists	24
o Leon Eisenberg and Ashley Montagu	26
o Frustration and aggression hypothesis proposed by Yale Group.	27
o Reinforcement patterns and aggression : The Social learning theory.	35
o Rosenzweig 'Frustration theory' and his definition of Frustration	36
o Rosenzweig's description of aggression	38
CHAPTER III	40
RATIONAL E AND DISCRIPTION OF THE TECHNIQUES AND TOOLS USED IN THE PRESENT INVESTIGATION	40
Studying behavior in natural settings through observations	40
Projective technique and the place of Picture-Frustration Study.	43
Historical Development of the P-F Study	47
Researches on P-F Study including Indian Studies.	49
Description of the Rosenzweig Picture-Frustration (P-F) Study and its constructs.	54
o Administration	55
o Constructs	58
o Scoring	60
o Interpretation	61
o The Indian adaptation of P-F Study	63

CHAPTER IV	65
METHODOLOGY	65
o Problem	65
o Variables	65
o Research Design	66
o Hypotheses	67
o Hypothesis 1	67
o Hypothesis 2	67
o Hypothesis 3	67
o Hypothesis 4	67
o Hypothesis 5	67
o Hypothesis 6	67
Two phases of the present investigation	69
o Phase I of the investigation	69
o Method	69
o Phase II of the investigation	70
o Subjects	70
o Test material	74
o Procedure	74
o Data analysis and Statistics used	75
CHAPTER V	79
RESULTS	79
Observations in the Phase I of the investigation	79
Patterns of human aggressive acts during agitation	79
Results of the phase II of the investigation	94

CHAPTER VI	107
INTERPRETATION AND DISCUSSION	107
Patterns of Human Aggression	107
o Hypothesis 1 (Extraggession)	107
o Hypothesis 2 (Intraggession)	111
o Hypothesis 3 (Imaggession)	115
o Hypothesis 4 (Obstacle-Dominance)	118
o Hypothesis 5 (Ego-Defence)	119
o Hypothesis 6 (Need persistence)	120
Determinants of human aggressive acts during agitation	123
o Physical Space and agitation	124
o Economic Climate and agitation	125
o Political Climate and agitation	129
o Socialization process of Gujarati Youths and agitation	130
o Communication block, alienation and agitation.	132
CHAPTER VII	136
SUMMARY AND SUGGESTIONS	136
Patterns of human aggression	139
Determinants of human aggression	141

(v)

Implications of the present study	144
Limitations of the present study	144
Suggestions for further research	145
 BIBLIOGRAPHY	 147
 APPENDIX	 164