

Dedication

I dedicate this work

To the hundreds of mothers I have seen in my life...

....who cannot accept failure while fighting for their children

....who are tired after years of struggle along with their children

....who continue their struggle in order to find new meanings in life

To my mother...who taught me the meaning of life and struggles

To my husband ... who taught me the meaning of happiness

To my dearest children...who are my life by all means