

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I wish to express my deepest gratitude and sincere thanks to Prof Tara Gopaldas for her invaluable guidance and positive criticism during the entire course of study. Her patience and constant encouragement enabled me to complete my doctoral research successfully.

I greatly acknowledge the facilities provided by Dr B K Chakraborty, Head, Department of Foods and Nutrition, to carry out the work. I appreciate the moral support and help he provided at various stages of my work.

I thank International Development Research Centre, Canada, for the financial assistance and for providing me employment as Senior Research Officer on the project. I appreciate the help and cooperation extended by all the project staff.

Thanks are due to the Scientific Officers of Wheat Research Station, Sorghum Research Station and Head, Department of Biochemistry, Gujarat Agricultural University, Anand for providing the cereal and millet samples.

A special word of thanks to Dr F F Dias of Anil Starch and Dr M M Gharia of ATIRA, Ahmedabad for providing relevant literature for analytical procedures and substituted starch samples for analytical work.

I appreciate the help and encouragement given by Sr. Serena, Dr Ira Pant, Ms Rama Naik and all other friends.

I am deeply indebted to my family members especially my husband, Sanjay and daughter Salila for the loving support and help extended.
