Chapter	Page
I. INTRODUCTION	1
1. Origin of the Study	1
2. Nature and Significance of the Study	4
3. Outline of the Study	7
II. TOWARDS AN APPROPRIATE MODEL OF ENGLISH FOR AN ESL CONTEXT	10
1. Introduction	10
2. Languages in Contact	10
2.1 Language Situations	10
2.2 EFL and ESL Contexts	13
3. Language and Culture	16
3.1 Nativisation/Acculturation of English	16
3.2 Bilingualism and Biculturalism	19
4. The Sociocultural Context	20
4.1 Functions of English in India	20
4.2 Social Identity and Social Values	23
5. The Model of English	26
5.1 Native and Non-native Models	26
5.2 Attitudes to Non-native Varieties	29
5.3 Intelligibility	31
5.4 Models for Second Language Learning in the ESL Context	34
5.5 Towards an Appropriate Model for the ESL Context	38
III. COMMUNICATIVE COMPETENCE IN THE ESL CONTEXT	42
1. Introduction	42
2. The Notion of Communicative Competence	43
2.1 The Linguistic Perspective	43
2.2 The Sociolinguistic Perspective	44
2.3 The Interactionist Perspective	46
2.4 The Ethnography of Communication	48

Chapter	Page
3. Communicative Competence in an ESL Context	49
3.1 Non-native Models	49
3.2 The Speech Community	51
3.3 Differential Competence	56
3.4 Strategic Competence	58
4. Communicative Competence and the Classroom Setting	62
4.1 The Teaching/Learning Situation	62
4.2 The Negotiation of Learning	63
4.3 The Management of Discourse	65
4.4 Interaction and Language Learning: the Development of Strategic Competence	68
IV. A REFORMULATION OF THE NOTION OF COMMUNICATION STRATEGY	79
1. Introduction	79
2. Communicative Competence and Strategic Competence	79
2.1 Strategic Competence in the ESL Setting	79
2.2 Strategic Competence and Communication Strategy	81
2.3 Taxonomy for the Analysis of Interlanguage Data	82
3. Features of Communication Strategy	87
3.1 Effectiveness	88
3.2 Manipulation	97
3.3 Interaction	103
V. METHODOLOGY	111
1. Rationale	111
2. Assumptions	113
3. Objectives	114
4. Variables related to the Use of Communication Strategies	115
4.1 Communicative Competence in English	116
4.2 Self-rating on Communicative Competence in English	117
4.3 Coping Strategies	118
4.4 Interactional Skills	119
5. Hypotheses	120
6. Development of Tools	123
6.1 Classification System for Analysing Communication Strategies	123
6.2 Measure of Communicative Competence in English	149
6.3 Communicative Competence Scale	153
6.4 Semi-Projective Test for Measuring Coping Strategies	157
6.5 Classification System for Analysing Interactional Skills	162

7. Sample	164
8. Procedure	165
8.1 Administration of Tools	165
8.2 Analysis of Transcribed Data	170
VI. ANALYSIS AND INTERPRETATIONS	171
1. Analysis of Learner Talk	171
2. Learner Profiles	182
2.1 Learner 1 : Rakshma	182
2.2 Learner 2 : Kailash	182
2.3 Learner 3 : Hina	191
2.4 Learner 4 : Ranjit	191
2.5 Learner 5 : Malti	203
2.6 Learner 6 : Harida	208
2.7 Learner 7 : Bela	213
2.8 Learner 8 : Ila	217
2.9 Learner 9 : Parul	221
2.10 Learner 10 : Meena	225
2.11 Learner 11 : Sonal	232
2.12 Learner 12 : Smita	237
3. Discussion of Learner Profiles in relation to Communication Strategy Use	241
3.1 Occurrence of Communication Strategies	241
3.2 Frequency of Use of Communication Strategies	245
4. Patterns of Communication Strategy Use	249
4.1 Discussion of Findings from Correlation Matrix	249
4.2 Discussion of Findings from Non-parametric Test	261
5. Learner Profiles and Patterns of Communication Strategy Use: Summary of Findings	264
VII. IMPLICATIONS
1. Implications of the Study	270
2. Communication Strategies and Second Language Learning	273
2.1 Goals of Second Language Learning	273
2.2 The ESL Context, Communicative Competence and Communication Strategies	274
2.3 Communication Strategies and the Process of Second Language Learning	m275

Chapter	Page
3. Communication Strategies in the Classroom	280
3.1 The Teaching/Learning Situation	281
3.2 Syllabus Design	282
3.3 Methodology for the Language Classroom	284
3.4 Teacher Training	285
4. Conclusion	286
BIBLIOGRAPHY	289
APPENDIX A : PRELIMINARY CLASSIFICATION OF COMMUNICATION STRATEGIES	312
APPENDIX B : EARLIER VERSIONS OF COMMUNICATIVE COMPETENCE SCALE	314
APPENDIX C : CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM FOR ANALYSING COMMUNICATION STRATEGIES	319
APPENDIX D : MEASURE OF COMMUNICATIVE COMPETENCE IN ENGLISH	337
APPENDIX E : COMMUNICATIVE COMPETENCE SCALE	347
APPENDIX F : SEMI-PROJECTIVE TEST FOR MEASURING COPING STRATEGIES	350
APPENDIX G : CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM FOR ANALYSING INTERACTIONAL SKILLS	361
APPENDIX H : OVERVIEW OF PROFILES OF TWELVE LEARNERS	362
APPENDIX I : COMMUNICATION STRATEGIES USED BY EACH LEARNER RANK-ORDERED FOR EACH TYPE IN TERMS OF FREQUENCY OF USE	369
APPENDIX J : BREAK-UP OF SCORES ON THE THREE MEASURES	394
APPENDIX K : DISTRIBUTION OF FREQUENCY OF USE OF INTERACTIONAL SKILLS AND COMMUNICATION STRATEGIES	399
APPENDIX L : CLUSTERS OF INTERACTIONAL SKILLS AND COMMUNICATION STRATEGIES	402
