Pursuing a Ph.D is a both painful and enjoyable experience. It's just like climbing a high peak, step by step, accompanied with bitterness, hardships, frustration, encouragement and trust and with so many people's kind help. When I found myself at the top enjoying the beautiful scenery, I realised that it was, in fact, teamwork that got me there. It's true that "Life is what happens" when you are completing your thesis.

I would like to express my gratitude to all those who gave me the opportunity to complete my thesis. I am deeply indebted to my supervisor Dr. Aruna Awasthi from the Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara whose stimulating suggestions and encouragement helped me throughout during research for and writing of the thesis. Given the geographical distance that separated us, she continued to guide me through cyberspace, critically examining each of my chapters and making valuable suggestions for its improvements and sharpening of focus. Needless to say, I was greatly benefited from all my teachers of the Department of History, Maharaja Sayajirao University – including Prof R.J. Shah, Prof G.A. Pandor, Dr. Rajkumar Hans and Dr. Iftikhar Ahmed.

I am grateful to officials such as General James Jones, NATO's Supreme Allied Commander, General Stanley McChrystal, U.S. and NATO Commander, Ismail Khan, a Minister in the Government of Afghan President Hamid Karzai, James Appathurai, NATO's Special Representative for the Caucasus and Central Asia, James G. Stavridis, Admiral (Retd.) and former NATO's Supreme Allied Commander, James Patrick Shea, former NATO's spokesperson, Joseph Dunford, U.S. and NATO Commander, Kurt Volker, former U.S. Ambassador to NATO from 2008 to 2009, Richard Holbrooke, Former U.S. Ambassador, Richard Stagg, British Ambassador in Kabul, Robert Hunter, Former U.S. Ambassador to NATO, Robert McNamara, former U.S. Secretary of Defence, Simon Gass, Former British Ambassador to NATO, S.V. Lavrov, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Victoria Nuland, Former United States Permanent Representative to NATO and Assistant Secretary of State for European and Eurasian Affairs at the United States Department of State, for giving their valuable time for the interview.

I also am thankful to the embassies of the United States, Italy, Israel, Albania, the United Kingdom, and Canada for their valuable assistance and allowing me to use their repositories. I would also like to thank the libraries of various universities – JNU, Delhi, Rajasthan University, M.S. University of Baroda, Indian Council of World Affairs, an American Centre Library, United Nations Information Centre, Motilal Nehru College Library, National Law University Delhi, Indian Society of International Law, New Delhi, Indian Defence and Security Analysis, International Committee of Red Cross Library, New Delhi.

At personal level, I would like to thank my wonderful parents, who have waited patiently for a long time for the completion of my thesis and have been my strongest pillar of support.
