

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all, I thank the Almighty who nourished me with positivity and His blessings all the way in my life. I express my heartfelt gratitude for my parents who educated me in true sense. It is their love and care which has never made me feel anguish in the life. I must remember all the sacrifices done by my wife and my kids; their contribution is truly creditable in the accomplishment of my research. I truly acknowledge the single- handed care of children that my wife could really ensure during my research and fatherless evenings that my children endured with shining smiles and wholehearted hugs to me whenever I reached home.

It would have not been possible to draft my report till late nights (and till early mornings sometimes) without their unconditional support. I would like to express all my respect to my research guide, Dr. Anand Mavalankar Sir who not only guided me for this research but also has been a great source of inspiration and motivation to me throughout my research and even beyond. He is one of the finest teachers I have met with in my life. He has been very encouraging, cooperative and emotionally caring as well. I acknowledge all his guidance and time he spared and spent for my research. I could feel the cordiality of a concerned teacher in every conversation with him.

I am thankful to all the experts who spared their invaluable time to share their views and opinions on my programme that I prepared during my study.

I take this opportunity to thank all the students who participated directly and indirectly in my present study. I extend many thanks to my colleagues and staff who have been very cooperative to me throughout my research.
