

PREFACE

The problem of discipline has not been solved till now. Educators have studied the causes and suggested the remedies to solve the problem. In the present work an attempt is made to study the pupils' attitudes in relation to the problem of discipline.

The investigator would like to express her indebtedness to those who have given her active co-operation in enabling her to study this problem.

She is very highly indebted to her guide Prof.L.J.Bhatt,Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology and Head,Department of Psychology, who has taken keen interest and spent valuable time at every stage of this work.

The investigator is also deeply obliged to the Heads and Teachers and pupils of the secondary schools for supplying the data needed for the work. Sincere thanks to educators who have helped her in finalising this work.
