CHAPTER

I	INTRODUCTION.....	1 - 32
	1.1. Present Day Conditions
	1.2. Need for the Present Investigation
	1.3. Clarification of the Concepts
	(a) Discipline
	(b) Attitudes
	1.4. Role of Discipline and attitudes in Education
	1.5. Summary
II	STATEMENT OF THE PROBLEM,,,...	33 - 66
	2.1. Objectives of the Investigation
	2.2. Scope of the Investigation
	2.3. Specific Problems
	2.4. Summary
III	REVIEW OF THE PREVIOUS WORK...	67 - 93
	3.1. Introduction
	3.2. Work Done on Discipline
	(a) Foreign
	(b) Indian

3.3. Work Done on Attitudes
(a) Foreign
(b) Indian
3.4. Summary
IV PLAN AND PROCEDURE.....	94 - 109
4.1. Selection of the Misbehaviours
4.2. Selection of the Sample
4.3. Two Groups
4.4. The Data to be Collected
4.5. Administration of the Tools
4.6. Analysis
4.7. Summary
V CONSTRUCTION OF THE TOOLS.....	110 - 157
5.1. Review of the Different Techniques of Attitude measurement
(a) Method of Direct Questioning
(b) Method of Direct Observation of behaviour
(c) Measurement by Scales
(1) Thurstone's Equal Appearing Interval Technique
(2) Paired Comparison Technique
(3) Likert Technique
(d) Less Direct Measures of Attitudes
(e) Measurement by Ratings
(f) Self-rating Methods of Attitudes
5.2. Comparative View of Different Techniques
5.3. Reasons for Selection of the Technique
5.4. Procedure for the Construction of Attitude Scales

(a) Collection of the Items
(b) Factors under each Area
(c) Editing the Items
(d) Selection of the Judges
(e) Rating the Statements
(f) Assigning the Scale Values
(g) Measures of Variability
(h) Final Scale
5.5.Procedure for Attitude Questionnaires
5.6.Reliability of the Attitude Scales
5.7.Discussion of the Results
5.8.Validity of the Scales
5.9.Summary
VI COLLECTION OF DATA.....	158 - 191
6.1.Introduction
6.2.Types of Misbehaviours
6.3.Discussion on the Misbehaviours selected
6.4.Selection of the Sample
6.5.Formation of the Contrasted Groups
6.6.Reliability of the Teacher's Ratings
6.7.Administration of the Tools
6.8.Difficulties
6.9.Summary
VII ANALYSIS OF THE DATA.....	192 - 242
7.1.Introduction
7.2.Comparison of the Two Groups by applying 't' Test (230 subjects)

CHAPTER	PAGE NO
7.3. Graphs Showing the Frequency Distribution of both the Groups
7.4. Interpretations of the 't' Results
7.5. Comparison of the Extreme Groups on each Misbehaviour area
7.6. Graph showing Frequency of all the ten Misbehaviours
7.7. Interpretation of the Graph
7.8. Comparison of the Two extreme Groups on each of the Ten Misbehaviour areas (Four Scales)
7.9. Comparison of the Two extreme groups on all the four Scales Considering Various Organismic variables by applying 't' test (80 subjects in each group)
7.10. Comparison of the Two Groups on all the four Scales Considering all the Variables by applying Chi-Square Technique
7.11. Graphs showing the Frequency Distribution of all the Organismic Variables of both the Groups on all the Four Scales
7.12. Interpretations of the Chi-Square and Graphs
VII PART II: ANALYSIS OF VARIANCE..	243 - 284
7.13. Analysis of Variance
7.14. Interpretation of the Values obtained
7.15. General Discussion
VII PART III : ANALYSIS OF THE QUESTIONNAIRES.....	285 - 296

7.16. Introduction
7.17. Discussion of the Questionnaire I
7.18. Questionnaire II
7.19. Discussion on the Questionnaire II
7.20. Summary
VIII SUMMARY, OBSERVATIONS AND SUGGESTIONS.....	297 - 325
8.1. Introduction
8.2. Observations
8.3. Suggestions
8.4. Summary
BIBLIOGRAPHY.....	326 - 332
APPENDICES.....	333 - 390
