Given below are statements showing some of our characteristics. Against each of these statements four columns are provided one each for mother, father, teacher and peer in a tabular form. You have to put values in the appropriate columns indicating the extent to which you have imbibed from each one of them characteristics as shown in the statement considering them as 'ideal model' for adopting attributes. The valuation is to be done as under :

If you have adopted the characteristics (a) extensively, put 5 ; (b) to a great extent but not extensively, put 4; (c) moderately, put 3; (d) slightly, put (2), (e) not at all, put 1.

The values as above are to be indicated in the appropriate columns provided for each person. e.g. (1) Is active like...

If you feel that you have adopted this characteristic extensively from both father and peer, put '5' in both the columns of father and peer; and if you feel that you are unlike your mother in this respect, put '1' in the mother's column.

Thus, each statement is to be evaluated in respect of each of the four persons.

Give your responses freely as they will be treated as confidential.
