

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I express my deep gratitude to Prof. Urmi Nanda Biswas, Department of Psychology, The M.S.University of Baroda, Vadodara, under whose guidance this research work has been successfully completed. It was a privilege to work under Prof. Urmi Nanda Biswas who has been more than just a guide to me. Her constant encouragement and appreciation for even small achievements and her tremendous patience instilled confidence in me and encouraged me to deal with various challenges that came across during the research process. Her expertise in the area of the study, especially statistics made it look so simple that I enjoyed learning and working on the statistical parts. I am truly fortunate to find a teacher, mentor and guide, all within her.

My sincere thanks go to Prof. Saswata Narayan Biswas of Institute of Rural Management Anand (IRMA), for helping me in getting access to the IRMA library. I also extend deep gratitude towards him for his insightful comments and suggestions at various levels during the research.

I also owe deep gratitude to Mr. Yumlembam Dayananda Meitei, Communication and Media Relations Officer at IIT Gandhinagar, for being a very supportive friend throughout the research. He has been a constant source of moral support since the very inception of the study.

The unconditional love and emotional support from my family kept me going steady and I would like to convey my special thanks and gratitude to them.

To all the staff members of the Department of Psychology, I thank you all and appreciate all the help and co-operative.

Last but not the least, I sincerely want to thank all those who have indirectly contributed to the study and I may have unintentionally forgotten to mention here.
