

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I take this opportunity to express my deep sense of gratitude and sincere thanks to my guide Dr.(Miss) M. M. Shah, Reader, Centre of Advanced Study in Education for her untiring and able guidance which enabled me to carry out the investigation and complete it in time. Inspite of her heavy academic and non-academic engagements she is always ready to welcome a student with a smile even at odd hours of the day. Personally within her I found not only a guide, but also a very loving, understanding and sympathetic sister who stood by me in my two years stay in Baroda.

It is my privilege to come in contact with the versatile personality of Dr. D. B. Desai, Dean, Faculty of Education and Psychology and Head of Centre of Advanced Study in Education, The M. S. University of Baroda, Baroda, to whom I am ever grateful for initiating me to the Centre of Advanced Study in Education - the only one of its kind in India.

I appreciate all possible co-operations extended to me by the principals, teachers and students of the English medium secondary schools of Baroda.

My thanks are due to Mrs.Sarojben Padhye, the helpful, kind and loving librarian of the CASE and other colleagues in CASE from whom I received valuable suggestions.

With all appreciation and gratitude, I remember the inspiration and encouragement given by Dr. B. C. Kar, retired Head of the Department of Education, Gauhati University for carrying out this research work.

I am also thankful to my college authority, particularly to Mrs. A. Rasul, Principal, Handique Girls' College, Gauhati (Assam).

I take this opportunity to thank Shri P. B. Parikh, the architect to bring this thesis in its present form, for his untiring service.

Finally, I take this opportunity also to express my deepest feeling of appreciation and admiration to my husband Shri H. C. Goswami, for his constant help, inspiration and sacrifice without which the work would have never seen the light of the day. My thanks goes to my children as well who bore with me during my research work.

I thank all my friends, well-wishers and colleagues who helped me in one way or other during my stay in Baroda.
